A GENERAL IDEA

Never built a permanent structure. Complete and perfect plans are necessary to the permanency of any building. There are many makes of Garments on the market. A good many of them are made by people who have "a general idea" of how to make a Garment. "A general idea" is a bad garment-maker, and an excellent trouble-maker—one of the best there is. We can no more afford to sell a Garment that is going to make trouble for our customers than we can afford to sell "fast-color" Dress Goods that will not stand washing. All of our Garments are made by first-class workmen and are perfect in fit and finish.
